

TRIP OF THE KIDNAPPED BOY

Trip to Cleveland from which was Expected, Proved Barren of Results

ALL CLUES SO FAR HAVE PROVED FALSE

Father of the Lad in Company with Detectives from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Leave Sharon on a Still Hunt but Return without News—Sharon Pastors Touchingly Allude to the Subject in Their Sermons.

Sharon, Pa., March 21.—Weary and worn, and showing in his face the terrible strain under which he has been for the last three days, J. P. Whitt, father of Willie Whitt, the kidnapped boy, returned this morning from a fruitless trip to Cleveland, where he expected to find a trace of his missing son. Upon what information the hope was based, and how the trip was planned, is not known. It was expected that a conference was held at Mr. Whitt's office, after which Mr. Whitt, Gilbert B. Perkins, head of a detective agency at Philadelphia, and E. F. Ward of a Philadelphia detective agency, left Sharon without making their destination known. In fact, their departure was quiet, and it was not even known here last night that Mr. Whitt was in the party. But a few hours was sufficient to convince them that all the leads which were false, and sorrowfully they returned to the home of the missing lad, where the mother and sister awaited the news of their mission.

All Search Unavailing.

"We know no more now," said Mr. Whitt on his return home today, "than we did before, and we have no further along with the search than we were last night."

Mr. Whitt has Not Given Up Hope.

And yet, in spite of all his efforts having so far been vain, Mr. Whitt and his family have not given up hope of recovering the boy. It is the general belief here that the abductors, refusing to what the public is anxious to know, will not divert the public attention, will then communicate with the father privately and await his answer, and that the whole thing will be kept quiet until after the boy has been returned, the reward paid, and they have had time to get away.

Anxiety Telling on Parents.

As the search for the boy has had its effect on the parents of the boy, his father refuses to sleep at all, and his mother, who will not allow her daughter, Salma, out of her sight, is showing the effects of the worry, and today physicians ordered that she be not allowed to see any visitors.

In nearly all the churches here today the subject was touchingly alluded to in the services.

Hundreds of letters from all over the country continue to pour in from sympathizers, but among all the correspondence there has not been one word from the abductors or anyone else who seemed to be in any way in touch with them.

Enforced Idleness of State Consular.

The squad of state constabulary, which arrived here last night under the command of Lieut. John Van Vorhis, an enforced idleness. Owing to the state laws prohibiting an armed body of men from one place to another, the constabulary will not allow him to cross the Ohio line without permission. He does not recognize the authority given last night by Judge B. M. Williams, and is awaiting authority from Governor Harmon of Ohio. In the meantime the men are chafing under their lack of activity.

A Sunday Clue.

A clue was had today, but little assurance is given it. On March 1 the police department was advised by a letter from Samuel C. Levenson of Canton, Ohio, said to be wanted there by the Ohio state constabulary, and that he declared he was a strong resemblance to the abductor. The general feeling, however, is that the janitor is mistaken.

FATHER OF BOY RECEIVES LETTER FROM KIDNAPERS

Following Instructions J. P. Whitt Leaves $10,000 Ransom Money in Flatiron Park, Ashtabula—Abductors Afraid of Police Failed to Call for Package.

Cleveland, O., March 21.—After failing in an attempt to effect a settlement for the return of his kidnapped son, Willie, in a park at Ashtabula today, J. P. Whitt has returned to his home in Sharon.

Ashtabula Police Spilled the Game.

Whitt was instructed in a letter from the kidnappers to leave $10,000 in Flatiron park, Saturday night, and no detectives were allowed the kidnappers promised they would get the money delivered. Whitt, however, in the letter to the father in the hotel in Ashtabula at two o'clock this morning, Mr. Whitt deposited the money as requested, but the Ashtabula police learned of the plans to pay the ransom and went to the park. The kidnappers are supposed to have seen them, but at three o'clock the money was intact, and not a man had approached the spot at which it was left. Mr. Whitt had a course of detectives in reaching the city to start a search for the kidnappers.

Coopers Guilty Second Degree

VERDICT RETURNED AGAINST SLAYERS OF CARMACK.

Twenty Years in Prison.

Counsel for Defence Surprised—Move to Set Verdict Aside on Ground of Mistrial—Bonds $25,000 Each.

Nashville, Tenn., March 21.—The jury in the case of Colonel Cooper and his son, Robin, Saturday found them guilty of murder in the second degree in connection with the shooting of ex-Senator Carmack. The verdict carried a penalty of twenty years in prison.

Friday the jury acquitted John D. Sharp, a co-defendant.

Asked Court to Declare a Mistrial.

Immediately counsel for the defence moved to set aside the verdict because of the disagreement of yesterday and asked the court to declare a mistrial. Judge Hart said he would listen to argument on the motion later. He then fixed the defendants' bond at $25,000 each, which amount was acceptable to the court.

On the heels of Foreman Burke's declaration yesterday, "that we are hopelessly tied up as to the Coopers" was a great surprise.

Jury Worn Out.

The defendants received the verdict without emotion. The jurors looked worn out, and when the court remarked, "I thank you, gentlemen, for your verdict," they soon left the court and dismissed you to your homes and your personal avocations," the twelve sprang from their seats as one man and hurried to their homes.

The Verdict.

Rumors that the jury had agreed brought a crowd to the court room and caused the presence of the attorneys and the jury to be a matter of public concern. The jury was held in the court room and took the seats they had occupied for nearly nine weeks. After the preliminaries, Mr. Burke read the verdict.

"We, the jury, find the defendants, Duncan B. Cooper, and Robin J. Cooper, guilty of murder in the second degree, and we recommend that they be committed in the state penitentiary for a period of twenty years," he said.

"So say you all, gentlemen!"

How Verdict Was Reached.

The defendants then signed the verdict. The jury then retired to their rooms and friends to the jail building. The jurors were not inclined to talk out for the first few days. They did not want to be disturbed by the public. They did not want to be disturbed by the public.

While the jurors would not say who the man was who held out for acquittal, it is known from remarks overheard by the deputies that he was S. J. Hyde.

MR. ROOSEVELT STARTS TUESDAY MORNING

On His Long Planned African Hunting Trip—Baggage Checked for Naples—Final Family Reunion.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 21.—Happy in the prospect of his departure on Tuesday morning for his long planned African "safari" or hunting trip, ex-President Roosevelt was the soul of good humor today, and he was surrounded by the members of his family gathered for a final reunion before the long journey of Africa.

Mr. Roosevelt was with the sun today, to make the most of the first day of his trip. He was with the sun today, to make the most of the first day of his trip. He was with the sun today, to make the most of the first day of his trip.

After luncheon Mr. Roosevelt made a careful inspection of all the baggage with two officials of the steamship company. The baggage was right and tight for the four weeks' trip to Mombasa. The baggage was checked for Naples and will be taken to the steamer tomorrow.

"I am going to New York in the morning," said Mr. Roosevelt, "and I will be back in the evening. I will be back in the evening. I will be back in the evening."

Mr. Roosevelt was shown a despatch stating that a gentleman from the west would join the expedition here as an additional member.

"I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Roosevelt, "but I think there will be some way to stop them. There is a story that a man went to Texas with a 25-caliber revolver and a cowboy said to the newcomer, 'Stranger, if you shoot me with that thing and I find it out I'll kick you out of Texas.' Well, if it is true, I am trying to follow I may think of the cowboy story."

While in a jovial mood regarding his trip, Mr. Roosevelt was still retained from talking about it to visitors at Sagamore Hill, and to the correspondents who called on him today. He said, "I want to say now that I do not intend to make and will not make any statement regarding my African trip or on any other subject here, at Sagamore Hill, or Mombasa, so that any appearing as coming from me will be false on its face."

Jac Binns and Carrie Nation

ARRIVED FROM EUROPE SUNDAY ON THE BALTIC.

SALOON FIGHTER DISAGREEABLE

To Fellow Passengers, Was Lectured by Captain—Binns Gets Place in Marconi Co's New York Office.

New York, March 21.—Jack Binns, known as the hero of the wreck of the steamship Republic, Carrie Nation, who has been abroad fighting the saloon, and Sir Andrew Fraser, prominent officer in India, were among the passengers aboard the steamer Baltic, which arrived here today. Sir Andrew Fraser was formerly lieutenant governor of Bengal, India, and is a veteran of the Indian service. Last year his life was twice attempted by malcontents among the natives. It was due to an American, E. R. Barker, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Bengal, that his life was saved. Second time he was saved by a British government for his bravery. Sir Andrew Fraser was a member of the Canadian national missionary congress in Toronto, which he attended from March 21 to April 4.

Binns' Vacation Ended.

Binns came over after a vacation at his home in England to resume his position in the Marconi company's office in this city, a much better berth so far as emoluments go than that which he has heretofore occupied aboard ship.

Carrie Nation Called to Captain's Office.

Carrie Nation, who came across in the Baltic second cabin, made things very disagreeable for a clock today, for her fellow passengers. They reported the facts to Captain Rogers, who called her to his cabin. There was a talk the captain had with her.

THREE NEW SCOUT CRUISERS START ON ENGINE TESTS

The Birmingham, Salem and Chester to Run for 1,000 Miles.

Newport, R. I., March 21.—The three new scout cruisers of the United States navy, the Birmingham, the Salem, and the Chester, started today on engine tests. The Birmingham is the first of the series of engine efficiency tests. Narragansett bay was placed as a pond as the three big ships were started. The Birmingham was made today prior to sailing, and was said today, for her fellow passengers. They reported the facts to Captain Rogers, who called her to his cabin. There was a talk the captain had with her.

The object of the trials is primarily to ascertain the comparative merits of different types of engines, the Birmingham being equipped with triple expansion engines, while the Chester has turbines of English make and the Salem has turbines of American make. The new vessels have been carefully groomed for the test, and each is in perfect condition when the start was made today. The Birmingham was supplied with exactly the same quantity of coal of the same pile. At the end of the run the amount required by the bunkers will be carefully weighed.

New York, March 21.—A message from the steamer Republic, which left Newport today for a thousand mile run in the first of their engine efficiency tests was received at the wireless stations here tonight.

It follows:

"Republic, S. S. Chester, 8 p. m. Latitude 39.43 north, longitude 72.15 west; all buoys contacted. Steaming a course 39 west. Smooth sea."

The vessel is now 100 miles or so east of the Delaware breakwater.
